

Homium Utah Program

The gap between what families earn and what homes cost has never been wider. This fund uses Homium's shared appreciation model to close that gap—creating homeowners and generating returns.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This pro forma contains forward-looking projections. Actual events or results may differ materially. Factors include market conditions, interest rates, housing price appreciation rates, regulatory changes, and other risk factors.

The Homium Utah Program model is based on the Homium Shared Appreciation Mortgage ("SAM") structure. Key assumptions including home price appreciation (5.0%), interest rates (7.0%), and geographic market conditions (Utah) are subject to significant uncertainty.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. All projected returns are hypothetical and not guarantees. Investors should conduct their own independent diligence and consult with professional advisors before investing.
